Go to Work - Partnering for Success!

Education, Advocacy, Outreach and Planning for Individuals receiving SSA benefits who want to work.

Alabama has Disability Program Navigator Programs, WIPA grants, a PABSS program and a MIG Grant—all designed to provide education, outreach and planning to SSA beneficiaries who want to work. If you receive SSDI or SSI and want to go to work but are afraid of what will happen to your cash benefits and health care, there is help available.

Alternative formats are available upon request.

This publication was made possible by a grant from the Social Security Administration. The contents of this publication are the sole responsibility of the authors and do not represent the official views of the Social Security Administration.

These are no-cost services and each program works collaboratively with the other to ensure that beneficiaries get the answers and help they need. Together, these organizations form the Alabama SSA Disability Partnership Initiative.
What is WIPA?

WIPA is a new SSA funded grantee program to assist SSA disability beneficiaries with information about work incentives, benefits planning, and making good choices about work. Each WIPA is staffed with Community Work Incentive Coordinators (CWICs) certified to:

• Provide work incentives planning and assistance;
• Help beneficiaries and their families determine eligibility for Federal or State work incentives programs;
• Refer beneficiaries with disabilities to appropriate Employment Networks or State VR agencies based on individual needs and impairment types;
• Provide general information about potential employer-based or federally subsidized health benefits coverage available to beneficiaries once they enter the workforce; and
• Inform beneficiaries with disabilities of further protection and advocacy services available to them.

What is PABSS?

There is a Protection and Advocacy (P&A) agency in every State and U.S. territory that protects the rights of individuals with disabilities. Alabama’s P&A agency is ADAP (Alabama Disabilities Advocacy Program). Each of the 57 P&A’s administers the Social Security Administration-funded Protection and Advocacy for Beneficiaries of Social Security (PABSS) program. ADAP can:

• Check out complaints against an employment network/service provider,
• Provide information and advice about VR, employment services, and SSA’s work incentives to help you return to work,
• Provide consultation and legal representation to protect your rights,
• Help you with problems concerning your individual work plan.

These services are free to persons receiving SSDI or SSI benefits based on disability.

• Identifying and developing strategies to eliminate barriers to employment by working to improve and expand competitive integrated employment opportunities, partnerships, and advocacy.

The overall goal is to ensure access to programs and services for persons with disabilities which will assist in facilitating their successful employment.
